Step-by-step Guide to Haunting the Halls Released

Stockton, NJ—Local author, Victoria Ann Davis, has released her first book, 10 Cheap Tricks to Haunt Your Halloween, as a trade paperback. This step-by-step guide offers illustrated directions on how to construct ten, affordable decorations that can be customized to suit individual tastes. The book also has three additional chapters that discuss design, lighting and the haunt experience to help amateur haunters build effective haunts in their homes and yards.

10 Cheap Tricks to Haunt Your Halloween is the product of years of study and practice. Ms. Davis began her career in 1989 by holding a haunted house for at-risk youth. Over the course of the following decade, she would design and volunteer for charitable haunts with organizations that included the Prallsville Mill, The Open Door and the Hunterdon County Parks System. In subsequent years she has used her talents on yard and home haunting.

Signed paperbacks of 10 Cheap Tricks to Haunt Your Halloween are available at The Book Garden in Frenchtown, NJ. Both the paperback and the e-book are available through Amazon. Halloween enthusiasts can also ask questions and interact with the book at 10CheapTricks.com, 10cheaptricks.blogspot.com and @10CheapTricks on Facebook.

Recently retired from a twenty-year stint as a community radio talk-show host, Victoria Ann Davis is now dedicated to writing books that empower people so that they can create with confidence. 10 Cheap Tricks to Haunt Your Halloween is her freshman effort.

Victoria is a proud resident of Hunterdon County, New Jersey. She owns her own bookkeeping business, Have Adding Machine Will Travel, and is a member of the Hunterdon County Chamber of Commerce. Her hobbies include gardening, cooking and podcasting—all potential topics for future books.
